LOUISVILL TOURNAL PRENTICE, HENDERSON & OSHOZAL JOURNAL OFFICE BUILDING, GRASS STEEK BETWEEN THIRD AND FOURTH.

COAL BARGES .- The Cincinnati Commercia says the committee which was appointed a few days since hy the Chamber of Commerce to wait upon General Burnside and call his attention to the fact that the stock of ceal is becoming greatly depleted, with but little chance of renewing it, as Government has taken possession of all the barges and tugboats, attended to their duty last Saturday, and were told by the General that he could take no action in the matter. When this was made known to the Chamber, a resolution was passed that the Chambers of Commerce of Louisville, Cincinnati, and Pittsburg be requested to appoint a committee to preceed at once to Washington to present the matter for the consideration of the Secretaries of War and Navy. Mr. Thomas Sherlock was delegated to attend to the business on bebalf of

The Frankfort Commonwealth learns from good sources that the rebels, on retiring from Danville, took awny about 1,200 head of stock of different kinds, and a large number of horses and mules, without leave or pay-in other words, stole them.

Such, snys the Commonwealth, is the result upon every such raid. Yet there is a party in this State who are opposed to furnishing men and money to drive back these marauders from our State. Secretly sympathizing with them, they would withdraw the Federal armies, and that all loyal papers copy.

Lieut. Col. J. R. HURD, Ch'n. free pass through our State. Here the people have a practical comment on the secession platform, and if in view of all these things, and the past history of the State, they act with this party, they deserve to lose every horse, mule, beef, hog, and sheep they have.

ANOTHER INDIANA FLOOD .- We lenrn from the Vincennes Sun that the recent rains have caused a heavy rise in the river at Vincennes, and on Monday the water was within 18 inches of the great flood of March, 1858. The levee below town has not given way, and the damage thus far has not been extensived though the prairies and low lands south of us are completely innudated. The water came to a stand on Monday evening and is now

[Correspondence of the Louisville Journal.] FROM THE ARMY OF THE CUMBERLAND. CAMP ON CRIPPLE CABEK, TENN., }
March 26, 1863.

Onite a stir was created in camp this morn ing by the intelligence that the rebels had cup-tured the couriers of the post two miles from this place towards Murfreesboro. Upon investigation I found it to be quite true, and bu half told, for one of the couriers was mortally half told, for one of the couriers was mortally wounded and died this morning about 10 o'clock. The balance were taken prisoners. I understand they were all of the 2d Indiana Cavalry. This is certainly a very bold action on the part of the rebels, and by the manner in which it was consummated shows conclusively that their facilities for obtaining information and knowledge as to what i going on in our lines must be ver great. Great caution is now exercise great. Great caution is now exercised on our picket lines, and especially since the disappearance of several men who have been in the habit of going a short distance to the front, orders to the contrary notwithstanding. The rolls of honor of the 1st brigade, 2d division, have been fully mnde out, and of the men who are to represent the 1st Keutucky in the hattalion I can safely say that not a single one of their will ever show his back to the enemy I do not approve of the course some regiment seem to have adopted in regard to this matter The commanders, in two instances that cam under my notice, have permitted the men t elect for the honors men whom they desired get out of the company and regiment, an thereby make a farce of the arrangement. think that the influence would have been fa better had worthy men received their honor would, hy their example, givo courage to their faint-hearted comrades who would be ashame to act otherwise than right in the presence of acknowledged heroism. Bravery or courage is contagious, and I know it, for I have seen It proved in too many instances to doubt it for a moment. I see records of a great many in-stances of armed force to prevent the arrest of deserters in the North. How long shall this be allowed? Why do not the authorities take hold of this matter right, and confiscate to the very last cent the properties of all such traitors as by action or harbored knowledge countenance it. If you could only knew the intensity of the hate of the soldiers in the field, for sity of the nate of the soldiers in the told, to those (miserable, cowering specimens in the shape of man, who would now bow them selves to the yeke of Jeff Davis, you would wonder why they do stand all this. There are wonder why they do stand all this. There are cettain matters that are to be attended to between this and Chnttanooga when, if necessary, this class will receive our attention if not

LOUISVILLE, KY., April 1, 1863.

There is an insidious report going the rounds that I have been brought out by Wm. G. I have this to say in relation to the report, that it is talse, and was started for the purpose of injuring me in my election.

DR. LUDLUM'S SPECIFIC, FOR THE CURE OF Generrhoa, Gleets, Whites, Strictures, COMPLAINTS OF THE ORGANS

OF GENERATION. THE GONORBHEA, OR COMMONLY CALLED Clap, is a disgusting malady, and is too wo hat it is difficult to get clear of. It is a compani Nat few admire; it pervades all classes of society both mule and female, both rich and poor, both ms ied and slugle. Although so troublesome in itsel o distressing and sometimes latal, it is a disease the so distressing and sognetimes latal, it is a disease the treatment of which has generally been worse than the disease itself. The common fashionable treatment is, firs, to deprive you of all business; then comes a course of 'tarvation-living ou bread and tee, water grad, or some kind of slops; you must then he bled, happed, or leeched, combined with nanseating medicines, injections, lotio, a olutional warm formentations. Every few days the medicines are hanged; and after some no, the treatment in this hanged; and after some months treatment in the are with great fortitude loars, which the patient bears with the hanges him way, which the patient bears with fear of exposure ne le discharged, or a lacharges him fear of exposure ne le discharged, or a welled caticie, a sell, with an irritable urctor, a swelled caticie, a sell with an irritable urctor, a swelled continue of the enlargement of the prostrate gland, or a disea... of the eck of the hladder.

This Specific, which acts like a charm, with a fe does on those diseases, and is quite pleasant to take and which has cured thousands in New York, Phila delpida, Baltimore, and many of the Southera citles is a certain and effectual remedy, that makes a rapic ud permanent cure, without regard to diet, drink, or own plants and is perfectly safe, as it is purely vegets ble. It contains no mercury, so that you can exposure yoursell to all kinds of weathor, without the less danger from the medicine. And if you are careful in wrapping up the paste, you will have no taste or sual iron it, so that you are not deprived from going late company, or being detected by your nearest friends.

This is no quack medicine, but a romedy discovered and need by a regular physician, and is confidently recommended to the nufferthunds.

ecommended to the unfortunate.

Union Canninate Foa Mayoa.-The City Executive Committee met yesterday and unanimously adopted the following preamble and

WHEREAS, The Hon. John M. Delph has de clined to become a candidate for the office of Mnyor of the city of Louisville, at the ensuing election, and, whereas, Hon. Thomas H. Crawford is willing to become a candidate and is a firm, unwavering Union man; there Resolved, That the Executive Committee cuisville do hereby nominate Hon. Thos. H. Crawford as a candidate for the office of Mayor f the city of Louisville. Resolved, That this committee do mos earnestly recommend to all who are in favo of the perpetuation of the Federal Uniou and the preservation of the Constitution and the Government of the United States that they not only vote for Mr. Crawtord, but that the use all honorable means for his election by an overwhelming majority.

o'clock last night, greatly to the General's surprise, and complimented him with a sere-played, Gen. Burnside was vociferously ealled for and made a brief response. We regret that we were in an unfortunate position to catch his remarks, but his few words were received with the warmest applanse. He said in sub-

LOUISVILLE JOURNAL THE POSITION AND RELIEVE THE LEADS CHARLE FROM LINE VES-CHARLE PARTY-LETTER FROM LINE VES-THE PATON OF ILLIED IN GOV. BOR. THE BEYMOUR, OF NEW YORK.

HON. HORATIO SETMOURI Dear Sir: As you requested, I will pench down some suggestions which I made to you orally a tew days since, in reference to Western sentiment on the present condition of the country, with some reflections upon the Lite

You are undoubtedly correct that the North-You are undoubtedly correct that the North-west will never consent to a separation of the Union, leaving the lawer Mississippi in a for-eign jurisdiction. Our interests are agricul-tural, and upon a market for our products de-pends our well-heing—I might almost say our existence. Before the war we supplied the ntations of the South with their horses and mules, their corn and their bucon. This plan tation market consumed most of the product of the counties bordering upon the Mississip and its tributaries, and any surplus found i way to the Atlantic cities and foreign coun-tries through that great river. By the war we have lost this market and this outlet, and our products, which formerly went South, have been thrown upon the northern transports and northern markets, overloading the for-mer and glutting the latter. As an inev-itable consequence, while money has depreciated near nne-third, the prices of our great staples in the hands of our farmers have re-mained stationary, or have receded in some in-stances more than hulf. At the last Presidentinl election, on the Ohio river mules were worth from one hundred and twenty-five to hundred and twenty-hve dollars per Now our graziers cannot realize more than sixty-five to eighty dollars per head, not-withstanding the grent consumption by the ar-my; and horses have depreciated in nearly the tieved by a restoration of peace and of the Union. The former without the latter would render permanent that which we now look upon as int temporary. Hence has the West fought, and so will she fight, not for the desolation of the South, and the final destruction of her plantations, but for the restoration of the West. of the Union. Hence has Illinois furnished more than ten thousand troops above her quota. If a draft has been necessary in any ortion of the West, it has not been where the I repeat, we can never consent that the lower Mississippi shall pass into a for eign jurisdiction.

I also agree with you that the radical abolitionists prefer a separation to a restoration of the Union as it was with all the rights of the States as they exist under the Constitution, in-cluding slavery; and just so soon as they are convinced that a majority of the people of the North and of Congress are determined to admit a peace upon the old hasis, they will laho for a separation. They seem determined to iuvent and practice every provocative possible towards the South, in order to produce and continue a degree of alienation which shall provide the state of the the conservative North is ready to offer them, to return and enjoy the protection of the Constitution unimpaired. These provocations, in connection with the known state of feeling pervading the whole community South, render any hope that they will embrace the Democratic offer to return and resume the status quo ante bellum, entirely fatile at the present moment. They will, with bitter contempt, spurn this offer now, let it come from whom it may. Such is the present state of feeling in the Southwest as well as in the Southeast Victories must be wen before they will listen to reason from any party and accept reuniou on any terms. Were the Democrats in power to-day they must win victories before they uld save the Union. It these victories are he control quite as readily as if won un'der

What shall be done in this contingency? The answer of ninety-nine is the hundred of those who voted the Democratic tick et at the October and November elections is and will october and November elections is and will be: The war must be prosecuted enthestly and to the last—not to crush and conquer the South, but to crush and conquer the rebellion. If a ten years war is necessary, rather than give up the Union, they accept it, sorrowfully, it is true, but earnestly. We hope and helieve that whatever the fortunes of war may be this winter, and especially if assections shall be this winter, and especially if success shall attend our arms, and it Mr. Line oln can be brought under Democratic influence, or even a I the South can be brough, to believe that conservative principles have acquired such an assendency in the North, as to admit a peace on the old basis and protect them in their fair constitutional right, s, then peace is possible after the fourth of March, when the new Congress will come into height. To render this possible—to accide a reasonable hope that the continuity of the old basis. is indispensable that they should be used of the opinion that the Democratic ion. Whatever this or that Democrat may think or feel about the prosecution of the war, certain it is that a vnst majority of the old Democratic party—that is to say, the Douglas portion of it, and all of those who have formerly voted with the Republicans, but at the West, and no doubt the same is true in the Enst—are fixed in the determination that the war must be prosecuted till the rebellion is put down, or till those in revolt will submit to the government of the Constitution. Indeed, this follows, as a necessary consequence upon the determination not to submit to a dismemberment of the Union, which, as hefore stated, st be looked npon as a settled question, at must be looked npon as a settled question, at least in the West.

When the rehellion was inaugurated, its promoters professed to believe, and no doubt most of them did believe, that they would not only meet with sympathy, but with material support, from the Democratic party of the North; and but for this helief it is doubtful if they could have deluded their people to such an extent as to have secured their acquiescence in tent as to have secured their acquiescence in the revolt. All now see how fatal was that delusion. They should be told in time that the hope that the late elections are an expression of sympathy for secession is a delusion equally great, and must prove equally fittal.

The Northern Democracy stands now where it has ever stood. It will support at all hazards the integrity of the Union, while it will gnarantee to every portion of it all the rights and all the privileges stipulated in the Consti-tution. To this extcut and for these purposes the Democratic party must be considered a war party, and in its support and prosecution it will vindicate its ancient renown for steadiness of purpose—for pursuing its object with a calm and determined energy which evinces its faith and determined energy which evinces its faith in its principles, and which ever has and ever will, in the end, secure its triumph. While wo must prosecute the war to the end proposed, we will do it without malice and without vindictiveness, and upon those humane an I Christian priuciples which should illustrate the civilization of this great Republic, and especially when warring with onr own hrethren for the sole purpose that we may horeafter live with them in peace and amity. The tunt of those fanatics who are blinded by rage and the imaginary wrongs of the negro, that we would conduct the war "with kid gloves," and "so as not to hurt the enemy," shall not drive us back to the barharism of the dark ages, or compel us to a war of extermina-dark ages, or compel us to a war of extermina-tion instead of reconciliation. Every net of tion instead of reconciliation. Every net of kindness and mercy opens a new avenuo to reconciliation and peace; every act of brutality and harbarity closes a door lending to these results. Acts of brotherly love beget fraternal feeling; acts of cruelty and oppression and injustice lead to alieuntion, retaliation, and revenge. While we will firmly hold the sword in one land, and use it, too, with determination and resolution, the other must nlways be open with the proffer of neace and friendship so soon as they will return to their allegiance to the Constitution. It is due to the South—it is due to the world, that the matured and fixed determinaworld, that the matured and fixed determina-tion of the Democratic party should be known and thoroughly understood on this subject. It is due to the South, that they may not cherish the delusive hope that the late electious mean that they may go in peace and destroy this Government. It is due to the North, that those who have come to our help for the purpose of bringing the Government back within the restraints of the Constitution, may know that they have not been contributing to the success at the rebellion and the destruction of the Government and the Constitution. It is due to the world to know that our late triumpus the mottan to know that our late triumple we not an invitation to intervention, or an evidence of division among our people upon the propriety of the prosecution of the war for the restoration of the Union.

The readings or explanations of the late Democratic successes have been various and opposite. By the Republicans it is said that by these elections the people have condensed.

nower. How did we get these votes? Why did they leave the Republicans and come to us? It was because the Republican party— the Administration—ceased to represent their views. They disapproved, it is true, but still tolerated arbitrary and illegal arrests, perhaps, because the Confederate Government did the senie thing in a most arbitrary manner, with the Union men in the South. But it was the proclamation which produced the revolution in the North—a peaceful and a constitutional revolution. The process of reasoning which branght to our ranks such accessions of patriotic men, and will bring to us many times more in the future, was not uniform among those who deserted the opposite party and came to us; while all were influenced by substantially the same causes. As the butter, and differently from the same facts while arriving at the same result.

trolled by the State Governors, and commanded by officers appointed by them and still subject to their military orders as their superior officers. Nearly if not quite all of these Governors were claimorous for radical measures for the proclamation—a measure which they professed to believe would crush the rebellion and end the war directly, and that without it there was no hope of success. Here was a pressure. Here was a visible, tangible power sufficient to overturn the Gov-ernment and hurl Mr. Lincoln from the Presidential chair—a measure which we have every reason to believe was actually contemplated, reason to helieve was actually contemplated, at least, hy a portion of these State Executives, and who shall say that it would not have heen actually accomplished hnd the President not finally yielded? Then there would have been no penceful October and November elections. The conservatives would theu have had a double victory. True, he resisted and complained till the meeting of the Governors at Altona was about to assemble, and give shape and unity to this mighty force, and then who shall say for himself that he would not have yielded? No doubt there are men who would not have given way to this threatening, crushing pressure, hut they are the men who would not have given way to this threatening, crushing pressure, hut they are the men who would nover have allowed this combination against the Government and the Constitution to have assumed such vast proportions.

never have allowed this combination against the Government and the Constitution to have assumed such vast proportions.

Here were facts which have already become history, and these are the constructions given to them by at least a portion of the conservative reoublicans who, with Mr. Lincoln himself, had heen devout followers of Henry Clay and Daniel Webster, and who helieved that at heart he was opposed to the vinlent doctrines of the proclamntion, and they firmly helieved that at heart he was opposed to the vinlent doctrines of the proclamntion, and they firmly helieved that he only yielded his own judgment and deserted his own cherished policy under this almost resistless pressure. They believed that the abolitionists had, with violent hand, seized him and demanded of him the proclamation and a change of policy on pain of deposition. They saw there was an way of wresting him from the meshes in which they had entangled him, that he might conduct the Government and prosecute the war upon constitutional principles and for constitutional ends but in the success of the Demogratic party.

tutional ends but in the success of the Demo-Thus reasoned a portion but not all of those who hal become discusted and alarmed at the new policy so suddenly inaugurated at Washington. Others, and there are no doubt many of them, who believed that Mr. Lincoln had at heart been in deep sympathy with the most radical from the beginning, and had only afradical from the neginning, and had only affected moderation as a marter of policy. When they looked back and remembered all he had said and done they could see this ralicalism cropping out on many occasions, as when he caressed and countenanced Wendell Phillips, and many other indications equally suggestive, and upon a review of his writings and savinus designed to create an impression of a tive, and upon a review of his writings and sayings designed to create an impression of a conservative purpose they found certain reservations and qualificatious indicating a prodetermination to adopt the radical policy as soon as he could do so safely. They now believed that while he had "held the word of promise to the ear," he designed "to break it to the bope." This class of aren left him in disgrate for they had lost all faith in his in

But hardins went to the country admitting and advocating the proprietly aul the necessity of prosecuting the war. The whole there is suest the pupular verdice has been rendered. But have the country and the way to do this was for all the conservation of the ver and upon in the wet of the article and the seat of government. An administration of the war as the Executive men of the nation to rully around the Democratic party.

It is not my purpose to express an opinion as to whish was nearest right; but by which has the necessity of prosecuting the war. The whole of the trained their opinions in silence and voted for that party which again in silence and voted for that party which again has been easily the will be a sould can never be conquered but by extermination, which the history of the world shows is impossible, as I that a pronongation of the war will insure Democratic ascendency, and result in a restoration of the Union as it was under the Constitution as it is, and hence they are for a separation and a pace, at once, which they deem prefereable to the second of the war will have been a voided by a good that it is that it delegation particularly had he complained of this pressure and infuncted that it was backed by the threat of defection and desertion by those whose support ho could not spare. They saw,—the whole world saw whence this pressure came. All the Northern States were in the control of one party. Not one Demogratic Governor,—not one Demogratic Legislature to which be could look for support and relief. All were Republican, and most of them of a radical and violent character. Many of them were bold bail men who would scruple at nothing of the Government and a daring usurpation. They saw that upon such men he was entirely dependent for his army if not for his treasury.

At the commencement of the war he consented to the plan of raising the volunteer forces through the State Executives, and allowing them to appoint all the regimental and company officers. At this juncture there were three hundred thousand volunteers assembled and organized in these States, held and controlled by the State Governors, and commandable of the Governors of the should walk. We may pursue a course now which will draw to our party all the reflective, substantial conservatism of the nation, by the aid and support of which we shall be enabled to wrest Abraham Lincoln from the desperat of the Constitution and the Government, and to take the lead of public nffairs, and finall restore the country to peace, unity, and happiness. Or we may hy another course repel from us those who have now come to our help and given no the victory, as well as the great mass of the Democrats themselves, and leave the party literally annihilated, and with it the last hope of the country blasted.
Yours truly, J. D. CATON.
